

www.reddit.com

dreamy j.r. watkins coconut room refresher is our #dailyfind

BY: ELIZABETH LILLY

FOLLOW

| 23 June 2015

As much as I love drinking tropical drinks like pina colodas, my apartment doesn't need to smell like them because concerned roommates, etc. But a room spray that manages to smell like coconut without making you feel like you're at spring break? HULLO! This little spray is non-toxic and free from phthalates, glycols, and dyes, which definitely made me feel better about spraying it after I coated my bathroom shower walls with mildew-melting cleaner. Don't be fooled by its fancy label and stripped-down elegance. I've paid steeper prices for artisanal popsicles than this $3 buy.

